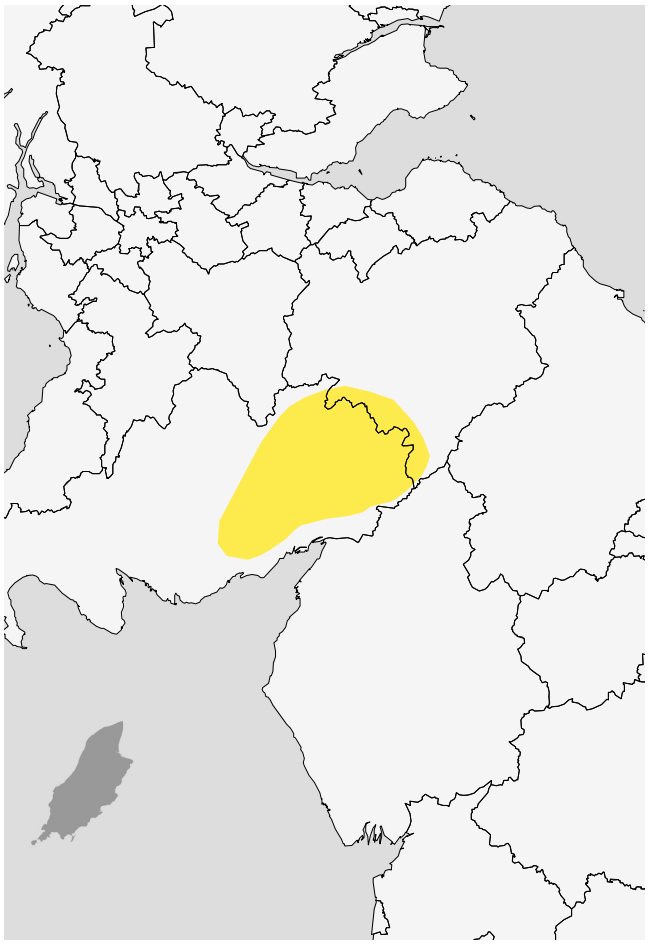
Yellow warning
Rain

Between
18:00 Sun 4 Aug 2024 and
23:59 Mon 5 Aug 2024



Further rain during Monday afternoon and evening may cause some localised disruption in southwest Scotland

What to expect

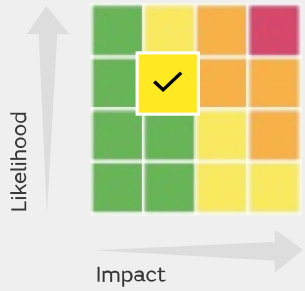
- Bus and train services probably affected with journey times taking longer.
- Spray and flooding on roads probably making journey times longer.
- Flooding of a few homes, businesses and campsites is possible.

Further details

Whilst rain has temporarily eased across southwest Scotland, a further spell of rain is expected to develop during Monday afternoon and move slowly east this evening. A further 10-20 mm of rain is expected fairly widely, but there is a chance a few locations may see 30 mm falling in around 6-9 hours.

What should I do?

Check if your property could be at risk of flooding. If so, consider preparing a flood plan and an emergency flood kit.



Medium likelihood of low impacts

Give yourself the best chance of avoiding delays by checking road conditions if driving, or bus and train timetables, amending your travel plans if necessary.

People cope better with power cuts when they have prepared for them in advance. It's easy to do; consider gathering torches and batteries, a mobile phone power pack and other essential items.

Be prepared for weather warnings to change quickly: when a weather warning is issued, the Met Office recommends staying up to date with the weather forecast in your area.

Reason for update

The warning area has been focused across eastern Dumfries and Galloway but extended into parts southwest Borders and the end time until midnight. Further rainfall across the remainder of west and southwest Scotland is unlikely to cause impacts.
